STILL ON THE BOARDS

Third Week of Schley Inquest Begins With Interest Unabated.

GOVERNMENT'S CASE NOT YET CLOSED

Captain Lemly Has More Witnesses to Put on the Stand—Commander Rogers Narrates Incidents of the Santiago Sea Fight.

Washington, Oct. 7.—The Schley court of inquiry entered upon the third straight week of the investigation of Admiral Schley's conduct in the Spanish war with the attendance as large as at any previous time, indicating the interest in the case is unabated. It had been expected that the navy department would be able to complete its presentation of the case by the close of last week, but when the court opened Monday Lemly's list of witnesses still contained almost a dozen names. Prominent among these is Captain Chadwick, who was Rear Admiral Sampson's chief of staff and who was in immediate command of the flagship New York during the Santiago campaign.

The program for Monday included in addition to those recalled for the correction of testimony, the names of two new witnesses and two who have hitherto been on the stand. The new witnesses, who were present when court convened, were Captain W. M. Folger, who commanded the cruiser New Orleans during the bombardment of the Cristobal Colon May 31, in which that vessel participated, and Lieutenant Bristol, who as an ensign was the watch officer on the battleship Texas during the Santiago campaign. Lieutenant Commander Dyson also was present.

The day's proceedings began with the recall of Lieutenant Doyle and Commander Rodgers for the purpose of correcting their previous testimony, and when they were excused Lieutenant Commander Hodgson, navigator of the Brooklyn during the Santiago campaign, resumed the stand. It was his third sitting and the judge advocate had not entirely completed his questions. There were still a few of the letters constituting the correspondence between the witness and Admiral Schley to be read and when they were concluded, Captain Lemly and Mr. Hanna proceeded with their questions.

When the reading of the Schley-Hodgson correspondence had been concluded, Captain Lemly asked Mr. Hodgson whether his denial of the colloquy between himself and Commander Schley had ever been published entire. Mr. Hodgson replied in the negative, saying that the last paragraph of his letter of denial had not been printed. This paragraph referred to the enclosure of a newspaper clipping.

Mr. Rayner began his cross-examination by asking Mr. Hodgson whether the Marblehead had hailed the Brooklyn when the two vessels passed each other as the Brooklyn was on her way to Cienfuegos. Witness replied in the negative. The examination then turned upon events about Cienfuegos, and in reply to Mr. Rayner's inquiry Mr. Hodgson detailed these at length.

Commander Hodgson said in reply to these questions that he had seen the lights on the shore at Cienfuegos which were afterward determined to be signals, but he had supposed they were signals between different branches of the Spanish forces on shore. He added that when Captain McCalla arrived with information as to the meaning of the signals, he was immediately dispatched to the shore to communicate with the Cubans. He said, the progress of the squadron was impeded between Cienfuegos and Santiago by the heavy weather, the smaller vessels, the Vixen and Eagle, especially the Eagle.

Mr. Rayner asked: "How far were you off during this blockade of Santiago from the Morro during the day and night of May 26, 29, 30, and 31?" Witness said: "Early in the day time our habitual position was about six miles. In the night, I think we steamed up and down in front of the harbor, a distance of about six miles." He stated that the picket boats, the Marblehead and the Vixen, were inside the line of the fleet about midway between that line and the shore lines.

Witness in response to a request from Mr. Rayner continued his description of the naval battle of July 3, from the point where he had dropped that description at Captain Lemly's request while he was on the stand Friday. In this connection he said the Brooklyn did all she could. She got into action just as quick as steam could carry her there. We commenced firing as soon as, the first gun on the port bow would bear and we kept the port battery firing until she turned with port helm through the arc, using the aft guns until we got all the starboard guns to bear. We got around as quickly as we could with the port helm, when we almost paralleled the course of the leading Spanish vessel, when the helm was eased and the ship steered a course parallel with the Viscaya which was then the leading vessel, although the Maria Teresa probably was farther to the westward than the Viscaya.

She was standing at an angle into the shore. When we got around the smoke was so very dense nothing could be seen of anything in the rear of us. The three Spanish vessels then engaged were the Viscaya, the Colon and the Oquendo. The Viscaya was about 2,500 yards on our starboard beam. The Oquendo was abaft the starboard beam. We continued in that direction when I remarked to Captain Cook that it seemed rather lonely for us out there. He was in the conning tower. He asked why. I said that we were all alone with the three Spanish vessels and it seemed that it depended upon us to knock them out. At that time the smoke was so dense I could not see anything and I supposed that the New York bearing away, the Brooklyn was steaming ahead of the slower vessels. He stepped out of the conning tower and exclaimed to me, 'What's that off our starboard quarter?' I looked in that direction and saw the heavy bow of a ship and said 'That must be the Massachusetts.' He said: 'No, it could not be the Massachusetts, she has gone to Guanamaco.' I said it must be the Oregon, and he remarked 'God bless the Oregon.' I said, 'Well, I am very glad to see her.' The Oregon was at that time, about, I should say, 400 or 500 yards off our starboard quarter at full speed. We continued in that position until the Brooklyn's speed began to increase as we got steam and probably drew a little farther ahead of the Oregon. She never was that close to us again as I remember. The Oquendo very shortly fell out and went ashore. The Colon gradually drew ahead and also went in shore. I remember very well the time that the Viscaya blanketed her from our fire. This chase was continued in that direction until when off Acereras the Viscaya ported her helm and ran in shore. The Colon at this time had gained speed and was in shore, I suppose, some seven miles. After passing the Viscaya we steamed ahead and ceased firing. The men were allowed to come out of the turrets one at a time to get a breathing spell although of course, all guns were manned and everything ready but the gaining upon the Colon was very slow, in fact she gained apparently on us. This was about 11:15 when the Viscaya stood in for Acereras. The chase was continued then after the Colon. I knew it must be six or seven miles away, until we gradually began to gain. I remember keeping the stadiometer at work on her, although the 13,000 yards would not register on the stadiometer. I remember at one time telling Commodore Schley that it was within about 13,000 yards, and my recollection is he told some one to signal the Oregon to try one of her 'railroad trains.' At any rate shortly afterward the Oregon fired one of her 13-inch shells which fell short. Then we tried with 8-inch shells and they fell short. The Oregon was signalling to us the fall of our shot and we signalled to her the fall of her shot. We continued occasionally to fire, the Oregon her 13 and 8-inch guns. I remember seeing one of the 13-inch shells of the Oregon fall well ahead of the Colon and one of our 8-inch shells apparently fell in shore of the Colon. At that time the Colon ported to helm hard aport. Previously to this she had ported her helm once or twice apparently seeking a soft spot on shore. She fired her lee gun and hauled down her flag. I pulled out my watch. It was exactly 1:15. We then ceased firing and slowed down and orders were given to get out a boat. The captain was ordered to go aboard and make terms with or tell the terms to the commanding officer of the Colon. On account of steam having been cut off and there being some trouble with the boat we were some little time getting the boat out. In the meantime we had slowed and as rapidly as could be accomplished one of the cutters was finally gotten out and a crew put in. Captain Cook went in the boat and boarded the Colon. I think he probably had a mile and a half to pull.

Witness, in reply to questions, continued his report of the battle. He said that at the beginning of the fight he had given the range at 1,400 yards, but that after the loop it was about 2,400 or 2,500 yards.

Mr. Rayner: "What was the bearing of Commodore Schley during this engagement or any engagement in which you saw him?" "His bearing and manner, with respect to an officer of his rank and station in the naval service were naturally those of a commander-in-chief of naval force on that occasion." Witness said that the commodore had occupied a place on a platform around the conning tower during the engagement. This, he said, was a position of danger as the commodore was there always in full view of the enemy's ships.

"It has been stated, however," said Mr. Rayner, "that the Brooklyn ran 2,000 yards away from the enemy's ships in making the loop." Witness re-piled: "Any witness who made that statement, although he may have stated what he thought had occurred, was absolutely mistaken."

"How far did she go from the enemy's vessels?" She must have gone about 600 yards to the southeast, as that is about the tactical diameter of the Brooklyn at that speed."

"Did this turn interfere with the Brooklyn's ability to keep up her fire?" "It did not; she continued to fire from her afterturret."

"Did you ever see the Indiana during the engagement?" "I did not. The smoke was very dense in the direction of the Indiana." At this point Mr. Rayner questioned the witness at length concerning his reported colloquy with Admiral Schley during the battle off Santiago, in which the commodore was reported to have said: "Damn the Texas." Witness said that when his conversation with Commodore Schley occurred on the Brooklyn the commodore was standing on the platform around the conning tower and two or three feet from witness and that Captain Cook, a part of the time stood in the door of the conning tower four or five feet distant, and took part in the conversation. "When I suggested to Commodore Schley that there was fear of colliding with the Texas he said 'Damn the Texas.' He used the expression as not in any way condemning the Texas for being there, but as if he were irritated as one might be about anything."

Mr. Rayner asked then about the expression attributed to witness, "she will cut down the Texas." Commander Hodgson replied that there was no such expression in the letter and that he never had said the Brooklyn would cut down the Texas. "There is a good deal in that reported colloquy that I did not say. The statement was never made, but the commodore did say 'Damn the Texas.'

At the afternoon session witness said he had written his denial of the colloquy at the request of Admiral Schley. Also that when the Brooklyn made the loop she did not blanket the fire of the Texas, although witness feared she would do so. After a number of questions by the court Commander Hodgson was excused and Captain W. M. Folger, who commanded the cruiser New Orleans during the Spanish war, was called. He detailed his part in the campaign beginning with the arrival of the New Orleans at Santiago.

He was followed by Lieutenant Dyson, recalled. At 3:55 p. m. while Lieutenant Dyson was still on the stand the court adjourned until Tuesday at 11 o'clock.

MEIKLEJOHN TESTIFIED.

Hiestand Asked Him to Take Stock in Manilla Hemp Company.

Washington, Oct. 7.—George D. Melkjohn, former assistant secretary of war, was a witness before the Senate military affairs committee at the Hiestand investigation. He came to Washington from Chihuahua, Mexico, to testify. He detailed his recollection of the proposed hemp company. He said that when the proposition was made to him by Colonel Hiestand to take stock in the company, he replied that he would give it his consideration when he had leisure. He declared that he had not signed the "Whom it may concern" letter, introducing Major Hawkes, with his official title. He explained at length the appointment of Major Hawkes to a position in the Philippine service and asserted that the appointment was made solely upon the strength of Hawkes' recommendations and upon that of his record as a soldier. He declared it had nothing to do with the controversy between Hawkes and Hiestand.

Lipton May Try Again.

New York, Oct. 7.—Sir Thomas Lipton has given the first intimation that he would challenge again for the America's cup. "You may say for me," he said, "that if the cup is to leave this country, I am determined to have it." From saying more than this, Sir Thomas wished to be excused. George L. Watson, the designer of the Shamrock II, had left the Erin only a few minutes before Sir Thomas made this announcement. If Sir Thomas did not issue a challenge for a race next year it is not unlikely that there may be a race. It is reported that the emperor of Germany is considering the matter of challenging for the America's cup. There is talk of others also issuing a challenge.

Buffalo, Oct. 7.—After three postponements, Illinois day at the Pan-American exposition was celebrated Monday. Governor Richard Yates, accompanied by his staff, was escorted by the First regiment, Illinois national guard, under command of Colonel Sanborn from Niagara hotel to the Lincoln Parkway entrance to the exposition, where the members of the Chicago city council joined them and proceeded to the Temple of Music, where the exercises of the day were held. President John G. Milburn delivered an address of welcome and responded to by Governor Yates. Senator Mason of Illinois delivered an address.

"It has been stated, however," said Mr. Rayner, "that the Brooklyn ran 2,000 yards away from the enemy's ships in making the loop." Witness re-

Detective E. W. Fitzgerald, of the C. and O. railroad, and Sergeant of Police Sandford, of Covington, have returned from Dayton, Ohio, having in charge Charles Tillinghast, wanted by the railroad officials at Huntington. Tillinghast had broken jail at Huntington, and after breaking into several cars and stealing goods therefrom escaped to Dayton. A large quantity of the stolen goods was recovered and taken back by Detective Fitzgerald to Huntington.

The will of the late T. C. Campbell was admitted to record Monday, and Miss Emma Campbell qualified as executrix, without bond. After all debts and funeral expenses are paid, he bequeaths the household and kitchen furniture, piano, library and other personal property in the Fourth street residence, also his horse, buggy and harness to his daughter, Emma, to be hers absolutely. He also bequeaths her the said residence for a home as long as she may remain single. The rest of his estate is to be divided equally among his two sons and three daughters, but his son Arthur is to be charged with an advancement of $4,000, and his son Clarence with an advancement of $1,900.

In the Republican convention held at Lexington Saturday to nominate county officer, Judge Denny charged that the Republican committee had sold the nomination for County Clerk for $2,700. He modded his statement, however, by saying that it was rumored that the Democratic candidate, R. L. Baker, had paid the committee that amount to prevent opposition. Judge Denny was working for the nomination of a former Democrat, C. C. Chinn, whose accounts were pronounced about $15,000 short by State Inspector Hines, and whose office has been for some months in the hands of his bondsmen, who are taking the proceeds to make good the money paid by them to the State. Chinn declares he will run as an independent candidate.

In the Kenton Circuit Court Judge Tarvin decided that the Democratic Executive Committee of Kenton County had a right to destroy the ballots cast in the election of June 29, and, furthermore, denied the preventive writ asked for by County Clerk Davezac's counsel to restrain the committee from destroying the ballots until the plaintiff's mandamus case was disposed of. After reviewing the primary and the history of the Davezac-Jamison contest for County Clerk, the decision says that after the close of a primary and the delivery to the party committee of the returns and the ballots and ballot boxes, it is the duty of the committee to act as a mere canvassing board, tabulate the votes and announce the nominee. According to Judge Tarvin's decision, the ballot boxes belong to Kenton County, and are in the custody of the Sheriff, who can have them whenever he desires. A question similar to above was pending here as to whether the ballots cast in the last Democratic primary could be destroyed or not.

Pittsburg, Oct. 7.—The Buffalo flyer on the Allegheny railroad crashed into a local passenger train at Barking station near here, wrecking the two rear cars of the latter. Fortunately there were few passengers aboard the local and none were seriously injured. George Young of Parnassus, Pa., had his leg broken and others escaped with bruises. The accident was the result of a heavy fog.

A MANIA FOR MURDER.

Dayton Woman Accused of Taking the Lives of Fourteen People.

FOUR HUSBANDS AND FIVE CHILDREN.

No Motive Known For the Insatiate Disposition to Destroy Her Fellow Beings—Deadly Poisons Said to Have Been Used.

Dayton, O., Oct. 7.—Mrs. A. J. Witwer, a widow residing in this city, was arrested at the instigation of the coroner and is held a prisoner pending an investigation which promises to be sensational in its results. Mrs. Witwer is suspected of 14 murders, the list including four husbands, five children, one sister and four members of different families in which she was employed as housekeeper. The last supposed victim was the sister, Mrs. Anna Pugh, who died a week ago under mysterious circumstances. An autopsy at the request of Mrs. Witwer's mother, who came here from Detroit, is said to have disclosed the presence of arsenic and copper in the stomach. Following closely upon the death of her first husband, Fred Schweiger, came the death of two children. The second husband died suddenly several years after the wedding and three children of this marriage died in rapid succession. The last husband, A. J. Witmer, died last April. In each instance death was somewhat sudden and all were strangely alike.

The prisoner is 47 years old and formerly lived in Middletown, O. She has two sons in the Philippines and a sister, it is stated, in a New York asylum. No conceivable motive for the suspected crimes has been disclosed. Drugs which were found in the house occupied by Mrs. Witwer are in possession of the police and will be examined.

The third husband of Mrs. Witwer was William Stowe, who died at Middletown, under symptoms, it is stated, of arsenic poisoning. Mr. Stowe's death at that time created a sensation and was the subject of an investigation by the coroner. It was soon after Mr. Stowe's death that Mrs. Witwer came to Dayton. She shortly afterward assumed the duties of housekeeper for Charles F. Keller, a widower. Keller died suddenly and the information since gained by the coroner concerning Keller's death is that his ailment was similar to that of a person affected by poison.

Mrs. Witwer acted as housekeeper for John A. Wenz, a druggist. Wenz died in September, 1900. The physicians attributed his death to blood poisoning, but now tell the coroner that they were dissatisfied with their diagnosis at the time. Two months before Mr. Wenz's death his 4-year-old son died suddenly. Mrs. Witwer next resided with a Mr. and Mrs. Gabell on Best street, Riverdale. These two died suddenly and the coroner says their sickness was of the nature of arsenical poisoning.

BOY MUED RED.

Body Was Tied in a Bag and Hidden. Another Gotham Mystery.

New York, Oct. 7.—What may turn out to be a murder mystery was the discovery of the body of a 6-year-old boy in a bag at 261 West Twenty-second street. The body was clothed only in a pair of light cotton drawers, but in the bag with the body was a number of garments, which evidently had belonged to the boy. Except for a laceration on the abdomen, there was no mark of violence on the body. The body was identified by Sidney Ryan, a cook at 300 West Twenty-first street, as that of his son, Albert. Ryan said the last time he had seen the boy alive was Sunday at 4 o'clock, playing on the street in front of his home. He said he knew of no reason why his son should have been killed, as the family had no enemy.

The police believe the child was murdered and that the body was being carried to the river when it became too heavy and as in a number of similar cases was deposited in the most convenient place.

Presidential Appointments.

Washington, Oct. 7.—The president appointed former Governor Thomas Jones of Alabama to be United States district judge for the northern and middle districts of Alabama to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge Bruce. The president also appointed Charles Hartzell of Colorado secretary of Porto Rico to fill the vacancy caused by the promotion of Secretary Hunt to the governorship of the island.

Pittsburg, Oct. 7.—The Buffalo flyer on the Allegheny railroad crashed into a local passenger train at Barking station near here, wrecking the two rear cars of the latter. Fortunately there were few passengers aboard the local and none were seriously injured. George Young of Parnassus, Pa., had his leg broken and others escaped with bruises. The accident was the result of a heavy fog.

THE SEARCH STOPS.

The Right Thing Has Been Found—A Maysville Citizen Shows the Way.

Once more we are indebted to a Maysville citizen for a public statement that throws more light on a subject of ever-increasing interest. People have been deceived by false misrepresentations from time immemorial. No wonder they are skeptical of all claims endorsed by the strangers, residing in far-distant parts of the Union. It is no longer necessary to accept such endorsement for local citizens are giving their testimony, and 'tis an easy matter for any reader to investigate the correctness of such evidence as the following:

Mr. Henry Bertram, boots and shoes, of 225 Market, says: "The great value of Doan's Kidney Pills are quickly proven. I procured them at J. Jas. Wood & Son's drugstore, corner of West Second and Market streets. In a very short time I was cured of headache which had troubled me for some time. I gave some to a friend who suffered greatly from kidney ailment and he said the results obtained from their use proved that Doan's Kidney Pills are a preparation which possesses remarkable value."

STOCK CLEARANCE SALE!

A settlement of the estate of the late senior partner of this firm is to be made in January. A necessity of the event is the reduction of stock to the minimum. It is to our interest to convert goods into cash at the sacrifice of profit. It must be a clearance sale in the most comprehensive significance of the term—a sale in which neither cost, value nor loss get a moment's consideration. To reduce our immense stock is the only aim, the highest hope, the fixed determination. No man or woman who knows the value of a dollar, who understands this opportunity to save, will let it pass without taking advantage of it to the full as far as prudence and means permit. While many departments are represented here, it would take double the space this ad. occupies to tell of the dozens of other equally attractive bargains. Call on us, it's the only way to master all the facts.

SIX BIG VALUES!

A DOLLAR is worth just what it will bring. If you had a barrel of them in the desert of Sahara they wouldn't buy a cup of water. Now we are certain there is no place in Maysville where a dollar will bring you as much as it will here during this sale. It might buy a larger package elsewhere but we are not talking of quantities. We refer to qualities and values. The following list tells what a dollar will do in some of our departments. It's not a list of exaggerations but a statement of facts.

A Dollar in the Linen Department will buy a pair of Nottingham Lace Curtains, or ten yards best Silkenlene, or two yds. good heavy Tapetery, or 20 yds. of Scrims or one Rope Portiere, or 8 yds. of Curtain Swiss.

A Dollar in the Black Goods Department will buy an exquisite French Broadcloth worth $1 or a Panne Cloth as soft as velvet worth $1 or a Scotch mixed Covert for walking Suits, worth $1.

THE TOBACCO FACTORY.

The Capital and Output of the Green River Company Will Be Largely Increased.

[The Weed, Louisville.]

The Green River Tobacco Company, Owensboro, is dismantling its plant preparatory to removing it to Maysville, Ky. The citizens of Maysville have taken stock in the company, and both the capital stock and capacity of the factory will be largely increased, and instead of producing Green river goods mainly, the company will principally devote its attention to the manufacture of burley plug and smoking brands. As Maysville is located in a great burley belt, it is pretty sure the company will buy a large share of its tobacco from the grower direct, and will make a specialty of Mason and Bracken County goods. The Green River Tobacco Company as at present constituted has the following officers: J. D. Elliott, President; W. E. Royster, Superintendent; E. W. Smith, General Manager; all of whom, with the exception of Mr. Elliott, will go to Maysville to operate the plant. It is understood a reorganization will take place early in the present month and that prominent Maysville capitalists will be taken in as directors and officers of the company.

Just now we are somewhat torn up on the outside of our store rooms by reason of remodelling our windows; when done we will present quite a formidable front. The inside, however, represents a herculean strength that only is derived from handling merchandise superior in quality and, at the prices we sell them, cheaper by far than the ordinary run of ready-made clothing. Here you find the choice production of four or five of the most famous of Rochester's manufacturers.
